OIL AND GAS DEVELOPMENT OF TRI-STATE

Latest Reports of Operations in West Virginia, Pennsylvania and Ohio.

Oil operators are devoting more time to the discussion of the probable advance in the credit balance market than of field developments. There is so little of real importance in the fields, under development, that they attract but little attention. Not only are operators interested in the prospects for an advance, but producers as well. Both the middle West, the mid-continent and the coastal crude oil prices have been advanced since the last advance in the East and, for that reason, eastern producers think that they can look forward with a good deal of confidence to an early advance.

Light wells are the result of late completions in the West Virginia fields. On Bartholomew run, Mannington district, Marion county, Hickman and Huffman have drilled their test on the Alfred Kendall farm from the Big Injun to the thirty-foot sand and it is good for forty barrels a day from the lower formation. Drilling down old wells is a good deal of a feature in a number of districts.

Small Wells in Lincoln County.
The lower counties are furnishing the most completions. On Bear fork, Duval district, Lincoln county, the Big Creek Development Company com-

Do Something for your Cold.

Do not let it wear you out and encourage sickness.
Take Dr. King's New Discovery. You will get instant relief.

Most of us neglect coughs and colds. We brush suggestions aside with the remark "I'll be better soon," and often times we do get better. However, when that cough or cold gets a hold, it usually means annoyance, interference with our work and often a spell of sickness follows. Isn't it better immediately to reach for that cold and cough doctor, Dr. King's New Discovery does it! Search as you will, you will not find a better remedy.

Dr. King's New Discovery is made of Pine Tar mixed with soothing balsams and laxatives. It's antiseptic and kills the germs, allays the cold-fever and soothes the irritated, inflamed throat. The very first dose gives you relief. You cough with less strain. And if you have a hacking or dry night cough, grateful relief follows and you soon drop into a restful and refreshing sleep. Get a bottle to-day and let Dr. King's New Discovery be your cold and cough doctor. At all druggists.

pleted its No. 22 on the M. Spurlock farm and got a producer that is a little above the average. It is estimated to be good for seventeen barrels a day. On the same stream and in the same stream and in the same district, the same company drilled No. 11 on the B. F. Curnes farm through the Berea and has a ten barrel pumper. The same company has started to drill No. 8 on the Mason-Tackett farm.

On Indian creek, Elk district, Kanawha county, the South Penn Oil Company has started to drill No. 4 on the R. J. Morris farm. In the Weir sand development, in the same district, the Pennsylvania Crude Oil Company is drilling a test on the Nancy Myers farm. The Ohio Fuel Oil Company is due in the sand at a second test on the Sennetta Mullins farm. In the same district, the South Penn Oil Company is due in the sand at a test on the M. W. Deel farm.

Shallow Sand Wells.
In the shallow sand territory in the Berea district, Pleasants county, light pumps and dusters are the offering in the list of late completions. Gerard and Company's test on the H. Russell farm and the Creek Oil Company's test on the D. Cornell farm have both been completed and each good for about five barrels a day. The Bills Oil Company's second test on the C. H. Bartlett farm and Smith Brothers' test on the S. Hammett farm are both dusters. F. D. Meister has completed two tests on the S. S. Searl farm and both are light pumps.

The South Penn Oil Company completed No. 6 on the J. L. Ferrell farm, located in Smithfield district, Roane county and it is a ten barrel pumper in the Big Injun sand. The Knapp Oil and Gas Company is due in the sand at a test on the W. Norman farm.

Southeastern Ohio.
The deep sand territory in southeastern Ohio is not supplying anything better than light wells at this time. They are located in the old districts that have been under development for many months. The only section that promises better than average producers is the Union Furnace district in Starr township, Hocking county. It will be some time before any wells will be due in that development.

South of New Stratsville in Ward township, the Plymouth Oil and Gas Company drilled No. 7 on the B. F. Sweeney farm through the Clinton sand and it is good for twenty barrels a day. In Pike township, Perry county, the Columbus Oil and Fuel Company drilled No. 4 on the N. C. Allison farm through the Clinton sand and it is not good for more than five barrels a day.

In Rush Creek township, Fairfield county, the Carter Oil Company has started to drill another test on the Bert Selfert farm. In Monday township, Perry county, the Purvis Royalty Company has started a second test on the Hannah Webb farm. In the same locality, Anderson and Fitzgerald are building the rig for a test on the E. B. McCullough farm. In Vinton county, the Peterson Oil Company is drilling in the sand at a second test on the E. W. Strong farm.

Southwest Pennsylvania.
In the Dorseyville field, Allegheny county, the National Oil and Gas Company has drilled its second test on the R. Stephenson farm thirty-six feet into the thirty-foot sand and at that depth has found nothing. The Rushville Drilling Company is due in the third sand at its second test on the Robert Seibert farm. The National Oil and Gas Company's No. 6 on the W. J. Robinson farm is drilling at 1,700 feet and is due to get the sand this week. West of the Dorseyville field, near the Kittanning pike, John M.

Easner has moved in a drilling machine and in a few days will start to drill a test on his own farm.

LOUISIANA GIRL THE 'CHAMPION PIG RAISER'

When the Animal Was Eleven Months Old It Weighed 500 Pounds.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 26.—Miss Alice McCoy, 13 years old, has just been awarded the grand championship of Louisiana in pig raising. On joining the Baby Pig Raising Club, of Blanchard, Caddo parish, La., Miss McCoy bought a Berkshire pig a few weeks old with $10 loaned her by the principal of the public school she was attending. When the pig was eleven months old, it weighed 500 pounds, and besides winning for the little girl the grand championship prize, was bought by a breeder for $50. Raising this pig had cost the young stock raiser something less than $8.

Besides the money value of the transaction, the success of the little girl brought about a change of heart on the part of her father. He had stubbornly refused to plant anything besides cotton for a money producing crop. During the time that little Miss Alice was fattening her pig he was running a two mule cotton patch. At the end of the year he had made less than $45. He is now planning to follow his daughter's example and raise hogs instead of cotton.

In Georgia, the grand championship of the baby pig clubs was awarded to a boy with Maude Phillips, of Quitman, as a close second. She raised and brought her pig to the fair at a cost of a fraction less than three cents a pound, while Etta Wynn exhibited a 384 pound Berkshire that had cost her 1-2 cents a pound.

are willing to make these untruthful statements with the hope of deceiving

some one with them. But this they will find no easy task. Their real purpose has already been exposed to the thinking people of the state of West Virginia, when they made themselves the servile tools of certain interests and refused to vote for revenue laws that would insure proper care of the unfortunate people in our elementary institutions, as well as guarantee to our educational institutions the proper consideration necessary for them to have in order to insure some degree of progress.

Challenge Issued.

I do not hesitate to make the declaration, and I do not fear contradiction when it is made, that West Virginia has been parsimonious instead of extravagant in the administration of the state government. An inspection of our state institutions is proof of the authenticity of this declaration. Our public thoroughfares offer further proof. The departments where the state's business is conducted afford another example. No one will dispute the fact that the members of the supreme court of our state labor under great difficulties for the want of sufficient room, as do the administrative departments in the state capitol. Not only is this true, but every available space is utilized and the state is paying annually in rentals to private individuals the sum of $600 a year for storage purposes. Had it not been for the fact that this administration used the governor's contingent fund in connection with the capitol fund and put into use every available space on the third floor of the capitol building, to be used by the public service commission and the compensation department a greater rental would have to be assumed than is now being paid. All of this is due to the parsimonious way in which the state's affairs have been administered in the past.

Candidates who talk of retrenchment and economy when the record discloses the fact that West Virginia's expenditures, based upon the per capita, are about one-half that of other commonwealths, prove conclusively that they are playing to the galleries and belong to the class of political demagogues repeatedly repudiated in this state for the last twenty years.
